

ThreeSixty Phone System

Your first step towards cost-effective, multi-service unified communications

Modern businesses are looking to cut communications costs, simplify communications infrastructure and enhance collaboration with new features. The technology implemented must also make it easier for multi-location businesses to connect offices in different regions. Welltel deliver tailored solutions for your business by bringing the best services and products together under one platform. By working with you and your business, we deliver a business phone system solution tailored specifically to your needs with all the benefits of the cloud. By moving your phone system to the Welltel cloud platform you'll have access to hundreds of improved services, and take a step towards having a true unified communications platform..

"It's a very stable system, I have no problem recommending it from a cost point of view, flexibility and quality". Jim Vaughan, Managing Director, Justsplit.com
